U.N. Warplanes In Big Attack On Enemy Lines

'Greatest Night Effort Of Korean War' Is Reported

By RAFAEL STEINBERG
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

EIGHTH U.S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea., July 17.—Allied warplanes pounded enemy and communication lines in North Korea with increasing fury today.

U.S. Fifth Air Force Headquarters announced that 180 sorties were flown after dawn following a record number of night attacks.

On Monday night, the air force reported, Allied planes including B-29 Superforts threw 119 sorties at the enemy, hitting airfields, vehicle convoys and frontline troops.

Greatest Night Effort

The Fifth Air Force called this "the greatest night effort of the Korean War." Clearing weather gave the planes a chance to pinpoint their targets through moonlit skies. Nearly 90 enemy vehicles were blasted and nine supply and troop centers raked.

The air action was not affected by apparently harmonious discussions leading to a possible cease-fire but ground action continued light.

Front dispatches said a near-truce was in effect on the battlefields and only light patrol clashes were reported through Monday.

West of Yonchon on the western front, Eighth Army patrols discovered several small groups of Chinese Communists who fired at them with rifles and machine guns.

Little Ground Action

On the central front, several UN patrols withdrew after making contact with numerically superior enemy units.

Near the neutralized Kaesong zone—scene of cease-fire discussions—five small groups of Red soldiers were spotted. These were seen both north and south of the "armistice city" outside of the neutral corridor.

On the eastern front, Allied patrols advanced as much as 6,000 yards without making contact with the enemy.

South of Kumsong, believed to be the enemy's major central front supply base, Red resistance was the stiffest of the light action Monday. Nine Communists were reported killed when their platoon attacked Allied positions south of Kumsong.

Certainly was a beautiful moon Monday evening. So very big and yellow. The man in the moon must have been in a flirting mood. He seemed to be playing peek-a-boo with the clouds.

Mothers wondering why the small fry about the house have suddenly developed "tummyaches" would do well to inspect neighboring apple trees. Pa Newc espied one lad of about nine "going to town" eating green apples in a south side neighbors back yard Monday afternoon.

Nevada Centennial stamps are currently being dispensed at the Post Office. The stamp is a beautiful green and depicts an outdoor scene with a log cabin and pine trees as the main theme. A second commemorative stamp is due to be issued this month.

Delivery of steel for the new bridge over the Little Neshannock near Wilmington Junction is expected on Wednesday it is reported. Placing of the steel in position is promised in a few days in order to prepare the structure for opening.

One young lady driver can consider herself among the fortunate it is felt by Pa Newc. The lady driver, during the progress of the fire Monday afternoon drove over the fire hose at the corner of North Mercer street and Park av.

CANON CITY, Colo., July 17.—(INS)—The second big escape attempt within three months brought a top-level investigation today of the Colorado State prison at Canon City.

Five armed convicts serving long terms for murder, kidnapping and robbery tried vainly to shoot their way to freedom yesterday and Gov. Dan Thornton immediately dispatched the State prison superintendent and two parole officers to the scene.

Two guards were shot—one seriously—in the 40-minute riot, finally quelled by tear gas.

All Are Armed

The five ringleaders, all trustees, were armed with a .38 caliber pistol and four knives. They took over a cell house and demanded the release of 11 hardened criminals from solitary confinement.

Tear gas bombs forced them into the open and 100 other inmates in the cell block were lined up for a strip-down inspection.

He was crowned King Baudouin I, successor to his father, King Leopold III, the first monarch in the 120-year-old history of the kingdom to abdicate.

Festive Mood

Gay crowds packed the sun-lighted streets of the capital in a festive mood while smartly-turned out soldiers lined the route the young prince took from the palace to the coronation ceremony.

The Communist members of the joint session that witnessed the oath of allegiance boycotted the ceremony, since they are completely opposed to the monarchy.

King Leopold III, renounced all his rights to the crown in a ceremony at the royal palace yesterday when he signed abdication papers fulfilling his promise of a year ago to quit the throne.

Reds Bring Up 'New Point' At Latest Session

No Details Given As Delegates Seek To Outline Agenda

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. N. S.)

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 18.—(Wednesday)—Allied and Communist representatives made additional progress Tuesday in a "bargaining" session on an agenda for a cease-fire meeting design to end the Korean War.

An Allied briefing officer reported that the North Korean-Chinese Red delegation brought up a new point in the Tuesday afternoon session but said it came as "no surprise."

The officer, Col. James A. Norrell of Mountain Home, Idaho, declined to give any information on the "new point" and a communiqué on the double Tuesday session was no more revealing.

Some Progress

The communiqué merely said "some progress" was made.

Colonel Norrell said no agenda for the final cease-fire talks was agreed upon but added that various points were discussed "several times," indicating the delegates were bargaining.

He said that the Chinese Red delegates—heretofore more unbending than their North Korean colleagues—seemed to be "loosening up" and nodded to the UN delegation at the opening of Tuesday's sessions.

In the Tuesday morning session, Norrell said, there was "a back and forth discussion" with both the United Nations and Red delegates to the Kaesong meet speaking "informally."

In the afternoon session, however, the Reds spoke from prepared texts lending a formal atmosphere to the proceedings.

No Details Released

The briefing officer stressed that no detailed information on the agenda talks will be released but said "additional progress" was made. He would not make any prediction as to when the agenda will be completed.

An allied communiqué on the Tuesday talks said:

"The United Nations command delegation felt that some progress may be recorded in the conference discussions."

The official bulletin, issued at the UN truce camp below Kaesong at 8 Tuesday night (6 a.m., EDT), said most of the morning session

It isn't near Christmas by weeks and months, and we have not a trace of snow, but certain young fellows are hanging up socks; there's one thing they all want to know. They're hoping that Santa will visit them soon, next Tuesday, a matter of fact, and they're hoping for help from the voters, you see, and wondering how they will act. On Wednesday they hope (and they'll be up all night), they'll be filled with a winner's elation, they're candidates all, and each one is as good as he hopes for his own nomination. Now Santa is busy, but maybe he'll call and possibly stop round their way, but he'll have to miss someone, too bad. I suspect, and it's up to eighty-seventy today.

Warren Saliday won the annual New Wilmington soapbox derby, sponsored by the borough Kiwanis club, Monday evening on New Castle street.

Fred Rowland was in charge of the derby arrangements. A fairly good crowd of borough residents was on hand to see the race.

Prior to the derby, the Kiwanis club held its regular weekly dinner meeting, with vice president Horace Fowble in charge.

Dr. M. H. Melghan, who just returned from a six-week business trip to England, was welcomed back by the group.

Tonight the members of the club and their wives will attend the Little Theatre production at the college. It is reported.

Next week's meeting will be in the form of a picnic at the home of John Reaney.

The Philadelphia Republican said he asked for the suspension of activities because of the "lack of unanimity" among the eight senators comprising the committee.

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS IN BODY

elections of May and June during which De Gasperi's Christian Democratic party suffered a severe setback in the popular vote. And though, under Italy's complicated election laws, the Communists lost a number of large industrial centers, their popular vote rose from 31 per cent in 1948 to 36.9 per cent this year.

The left-wing of the Democratic Christian party has demanded as a result that Finance Minister Giuseppe Pella resign and that his economic policy of tighter controls be reversed and increased credit made available to ease unemployment.

To Form New Cabinet
All members of the party were insistent that Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza and Defense Minister Rinaldo Ossola resign. After a stormy meeting yesterday the cabinet ministers placed their resignations in the hands of Premier De Gasperi.

This then gave De Gasperi, who has headed up the government for the past five years and seven months, the choice of either reshuffling the coalition cabinet or forming a new one—his seventh.

Since all members of the majority party were agreed upon De Gasperi as political leader despite the dissension within the cabinet, he is most logical choice to form the new government.

The request will probably be made of him after President Einaudi consults with the president of the Senate, the president of the chamber of deputies and top party leaders.

To Demand Election
Rome, July 17.—Italian communist leader Palmiro Togliatti announced today he will demand a new general election following the resignation of Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who quit because of inter-party differences.

Togliatti said that in the meantime he will ask Italian President Luigi Einaudi to designate as premier "a personality outside and above political parties."

Despite communist opposition, De Gasperi is expected to be asked to form a new government.

One week from today will bring to a close the scrappy primary election contest which is being staged in the city. With a number of important offices at stake, a fairly good vote should be polled.

Roasting ear season seemingly has been inaugurated on the local scene. Groups of women were spotted Monday bending over large baskets of sweet corn and inspecting the ears before they made their purchase. Home grown ears are not quite as good as market yet in most instances.

A giant exterior improvement program is in progress at the First Methodist church. Large steel scaffolds have been erected on the North Jefferson street side as workmen point the bricks and do other necessary work to place the building in good condition.

City Hall lawn along with a number of other lovely lawns about the city, is showing the effects of the hot weather which has enveloped the local area for several days. A brownish tint is showing on the lawns indicating that moisture is needed badly.

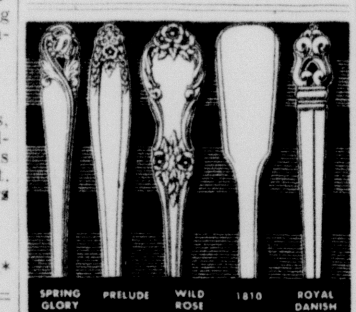

Finishing touches are being put on the Free Methodist Camp grounds in the Croton section as volunteer workers put the grounds in condition for the 1951 encampment which is slated to get underway on Thursday. Several hundred will be attracted to the city for the sessions.

Forms for the foundation walls of the addition to the Jameson Memorial hospital are in place and concrete is being poured. Favorable weather has permitted excellent progress at the site over the past few weeks. Local residents are watching with interest the work which will provide a much needed addition to the North Hill institution.

A North Hill reader of the Pa News column called to report that the peculiar license mentioned in Monday's column was from Connecticut. She stated that in that state, the numbers go only to 999 and then combinations are used. The plate mentioned evidently was R-1-NG. Plates in that state are issued on the five-year plan with a small tag issued each year to give the correct year.

PROBING SECOND BIG ESCAPE ATTEMPT AT COLORADO PRISON

ing was Capt. Chet Yeo, who was shot in the back. Another guard, Amos Murley, suffered a bullet wound in the leg.

Gun Smuggled In

Warden Roy Best said the gun used in the escape attempt was smuggled into the prison yesterday morning by an ex-convict. He explained that the gun was not detected by electric eye devices because it was encased in lead and placed in a box of sawdust.

Prison officials foiled another escape plot last May. The prison was the scene of the famous 1948 break in which 13 convicts fled and were recaptured after two days.

Ringleaders of yesterday's attempt were Lee Mora, 18, serving life for murder; Charles W. Garton, 31, serving a 25-to-29-year term for kidnapping; John W. Davis, 31, and Arthur Fish, 24, each serving 20-to-30-year terms for kidnapping, and John E. Henery, 21, serving two to eight years for robbery.

Informed sources in Tehran said yesterday that Harriman had promised Premier Mohammed Mossadeqh American economic aid in Iranian reconstruction if a "satisfactory settlement" of the oil dispute is reached.

Meantime the capital city entered its second day of martial law which was imposed for a week-long period after 20 persons were killed and 150 injured when 20,000 Communist-led demonstrators staged bloody demonstrations against Harriman's arrival.

REPUBLICANS OF NEW CASTLE

I have stated that I would discuss with you the waste of city funds due to duplication.

I am not unmindful of course of such situations as spreading our efforts too thinly over two Recreation Programs. There can and should be more interchange between departments of employees, and of motor vehicular and other equipment.

But far worse examples of duplication are easily discovered. No business would spread its facilities as widely as has the City of New Castle. We have a repair shop here, an electric shop there, and garages and equipment storage places everywhere.

We have garbage disposal on the West Side, sewage disposal in Mahoningtown, and a city dump on the East Side. When City Hall was built it was designed to accommodate only those offices already in the old City Hall. The possibility of ever using the new structure for other purposes seems to have been entirely overlooked.

Some recent progress was made when the street department arranged to eliminate three buildings and consolidate in one. But if elected to council I will bend every effort to consolidate city facilities and services. I will oppose the setting up of any more "outposts" with a separate boss, a separate helper, and separate lighting, heating, insurance, repairs and phone service.

SINCERELY,

RALPH R. WHITE

NO OTHER PEACE LIKE IT

The peace treaty which the Allies, under the leadership of the United States, have proposed for Japan is, indeed, a unique document. For the first time in history a nation which started a war and waged it relentlessly is to go unpunished in any substantial way.

The treaty does strip the Japanese of their overseas holdings, including Formosa and various Pacific islands, but it permits them to rearm, to build up their industries, and otherwise to regain their status as people of a sovereign country.

Of the 50-odd nations which were officially at war with Japan enough have approved the principles of the new treaty to make acceptance certain. The Russians had a plan of their own for establishing peace but were bluntly told they were out of order. The world is going along without them and fortunately they enjoy no veto power.

The Philippines are disappointed because they will receive no reparations. Whether they will sign the treaty is a matter of speculation.

Otherwise the nations of the world are prepared to try the experience of a "peace of reconciliation." Whatever happens, it can have no worse results than have followed some peace treaties of the past.

ASSIGNMENT TO DANGER

Whether it will be possible to arrange for the release from imprisonment in Czechoslovakia of Correspondent William N. Oatis, on some such humiliating terms as freed another American, Mr. Vogeler, from the Hungarian prison, is not now evident.

The directors of the Associated Press are exerting their utmost efforts in Mr. Oatis' behalf, and the AP Managing Editor's Association will appoint a special committee to consult with the AP management and with appropriate authorities.

Mr. Oatis, as an AP directors' statement emphasizes, was convicted of espionage "when he had done no more than report established facts and daily development in the country to which he is accredited."

Said the AP statement: "The statute under which he was tried appears to be so all-embracing that a prosecutor and court could, if desired, find his activities in conflict with the law, if a correspondent recorded anything about public events in words other than those authorized by the Czechoslovak government."

Under such a system foreign correspondents would become mere propagandists for Communist governments. Under such circumstances, the correspondent who tries to do a legitimate reporting job runs grave risks, as the Oatis case proves. Here was a correspondent held incommunicado for nearly 70 days before he was brought to trial, deprived of the right to consult an attorney of his choice and forced to testify against himself.

In Communist environments the American reporter who attempts to do a job of objective coverage is in grave danger. Being a foreign correspondent in such a setting carries risks not even attendant upon being a war correspondent in active areas.

FIGHT AGAINST POLIO

Paradoxical as it seems, infantile paralysis is on the increase in the United States, but the chances of complete recovery, or of recovery with a minimum of disability, are much greater than ever before.

This is true despite the fact that it has not been determined whether other than three known viruses cause the disease, though by the end of this year the conclusion of a three-year study may disclose whether it is safe to concentrate on these three.

The annual report of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis holds that when the number of viruses is definitely established, an important step will have been taken toward developing an agent to immunize potential victims.

The fight going on against the disease is relentless, though anything like complete control seems far distant. In 1950 there were 33,351 recorded cases of polio, which was surpassed only by the 42,336 of the year before.

In the three years 1948 to 1950, inclusive, there was 103,619 cases, as contrasted to 26,255 cases in the 1939 to 1941 period, an increase of nearly 300 per cent.

The "epidemic rate" of 20 cases to 100,000 population was exceeded last year in 22 states by this disease, which strikes from early June until late in November. Fortunately, many states are on the alert. The huge fund of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, financed by the March of Dimes, is available everywhere. Actually the fund provides aid to four out of five individuals the country over who are stricken.

In 13 years the fund has disbursed $101,000,000 on care of patients, and the willingness of the public to contribute to the March of Dimes is unabated. Many agencies are at work studying polio and its viruses, and there is reason to hope that the day will come when the causes of that disease will yield to scientific treatment, and its incidence will be no greater than that of yellow fever now.

It's easy now to brighten up your wardrobe. Just acquire one of those luminous ties.

A Florida lifeguard was charged with breaking into parked cars, then swimming away with the swag. A sort of second story operator, using submarine tactics?

Italy To Seek Treaty Revision

Publication of John Foster Dulles' draft of a peace treaty for Japan has resulted, as expected, in new Rome demands for revision of the Italian peace pact and a definite showdown seems imminent.

The Italians have felt from the beginning that their treaty is a discriminatory one, depriving the nation of its sovereignty, defense and freedom to improve its social and industrial standards.

Even before the text of the Dulles proposal became public property, the clamor rose in Rome, and foreign minister Count Carlo Sforza instructed his embassies in Washington, London and Paris to make urgent representations.

Italy has keyed its stand in tune with the Korean peace negotiations. The government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi holds that if the nations of the world are finally embarking upon a program of ending present wars and the threats of new ones, the Italian problems must be given a measure of priority.

In retrospect, the Italian part in World War II has some curious aspects.

The De Gasperi government appears quite justified in its contention that Italy was propelled into the war by the personal ambition and vaulting ambitions of Benito Mussolini.

Formidable Adversary
But against this is the fact that the Italians fought as Adolf Hitler's minions very creditably in certain sectors and surely were a formidable adversary in the air. On the credit side is Italy's rapid conversion to the Western allies once the Fascist regime was disposed of, plus heavy contributions, both material and spiritual, to the democratic cause since the end of the conflict.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD'S SHARE OF HOME TASKS

Yesterday we saw the need of better educational opportunities for gifted children and youth, and suggested that these children also need more training in responsibility at home and school than most of them are getting. As you know, the smarter the child, the more readily he may find ways to escape doing what he doesn't like doing.

Of course, you may have read and heard much on letting children have responsibility. But nearly always this advice concerns letting them do the many things they want to do that they can do well even when their parents and other adults usually suppose they can't. There are promising opportunities in this direction, such as allowing and encouraging a boy or girl, no older than 10 or 12, to plan and prepare an occasional meal for the family, even doing all the related shopping, to choose part of his own clothes, and own room furniture, and to take scores of other responsibilities at home. At school, also, more and more children are set to do all sorts of things on their own, leading a group in some activity, serving as chairman of a program, and so on.

Boreome Tasks
But in any home there are many responsibilities which the child of school age could do well but would rather not do. They may be boreome and their doing may interfere with play, as making beds, washing dishes, tidying a room. So, also, at school many jobs are not glamorous, such as being a stage helper behind the curtain, appearing regularly and promptly at a rehearsal out of school hours, bringing to school from home materials needed for a class enterprise, cleaning up after a school party, or mastering a few facts or symbols by rote.

You rarely read about the need of any child (least of all the very bright child) to have constant practice in doing at home and school some of the necessary jobs sometimes drudgeries, which are not attractive to him. In the heyday of ultra-progressive education, some gifted children were sent to country day schools which set practically no conformities or requirements—the very worst kind of school, perhaps, for most of these children. Many less gifted children might get more good from such schools.

Share of Work
Mrs. Myers said in our recent book, "Homes Build Persons": How can any child sound in body, acquire good moral growth and education who does not learn to do his full share of the work about the home? How can he gain a wholesome respect, not to mention gratitude and esteem, for a parent who is his slave?

Now the very bright child is usually harder to bring up in sharing in home responsibilities than the average or duller child. Yet just because of his precocity he should have more opportunities in later life to shoulder large responsibilities. Not having adequate practice in his earlier years in overcoming resistances and in driving himself to do what he might prefer to escape doing, how poor has been his education for the greatest usefulness.

It might be better to have only average mental ability with adequate training in responsibility, than to be a gifted person lacking in responsibility. A few of the smartest people of the world today, who always seek the easy way regardless of its social value, are menaces to mankind.

Bible Thought
For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.—Romans 8:18.

arguments, of which they are taking every opportunity.

One is the pledge by the U. S., Great Britain and France to return the city of Trieste and the free territory to Italy and not hand it over to Yugoslavia.

The other is Soviet opposition to Italian membership in the United Nations, which Rome maintains is a direct contravention of a specific promise.

Much capital is being made in the Italian press over the fact that Dulles' negotiations in Korea constitute a signal victory for the United Nations, despite Soviet claims to the contrary.

As a result, Rome leaders declare, the U. N. should now strengthen its own hand by admitting Italy in the face of Russian opposition, and thereby add to the forces of western democracy the great and potential strength of the Mediterranean peninsula.

The arguments are ones that cannot be avoided indefinitely.

Treaty Of Reconciliation

The Dulles draft has been called a "treaty of reconciliation." Italy asks, with some indignation, why favors are to be extended to the nation which ravaged Pearl Harbor and crippled the British fleet off Malaya while the same are denied to herself.

In answer to any explanation that Japan must become a vital factor in Pacific defenses against Communism, the Italians maintain that their position is identical with regard to Europe.

The continuing dangerous situation in Iran, coupled with the announced establishment of a string of U. S. Air Force bases in North Africa, serves to emphasize the importance of the Mediterranean in West European defense and Italy sees herself as an indispensable factor.

Italy, under her present treaty remains severely restricted in a military sense.

Yet the country already has offered to the North Atlantic defense organization twelve divisions of men—the maximum she is allowed—as proof of her willingness to supply a great deal more, if the throttling limitations are removed.

The nub of the matter is that Italy feels she has atoned for past war crimes, fully as much as Japan has done. The Italians say that if there can be a Dulles plan for the Far East, there must be one for the Mediterranean as well.

They Say

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Acheson: "We must not for one second allow any development in Korea to lull us into a belief that now we have turned the corner, and now things are going to get better, and therefore we do not need to make the effort which we have been making."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bridges (R., N. H.): "I will never be satisfied if Korea is left as a festering Communist sore and a knife in the back of Japan."

NEW YORK — Showgirl Joyce Matthews, ex-wife of Milton Berle, asked why she attempted to take her life: "I just love razor blades."

READING, Pa.—A. B. "Happy" Chandler, who closed his rule as baseball commissioner: "I am going fishing—for another job."

Folks Of Fame

Will Hays was born in Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 5, 1879, and was admitted to the Indiana bar in 1900. He became active in politics, and in World War I was chairman of the Indiana state council of defense. President Warren G. Harding appointed him postmaster general in 1921. He was president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., from 1922 to 1945, and is now advisor. His home still is in Sullivan, Ind., but he maintains an office in New York City.

The charmer of silent motion picture days, Madge Bellamy, was born in Hillsboro, Tex., and had stock and stage experience before entering pictures in 1914. "Lorna Doone," "Cup of Life," "Hail the Woman," "The Hottentot," "Soul of the Beast," "Lost" and "Tinsel Harvest" were some of her early pictures. "Sandy," "Mother Knows Best," "Silk Legs," "Very Confidential," "Colleen," "Tonight at Twelve," were later ones. She had golden hair and brown eyes.

Dust off the buggy . . . hitch up the horses . . . and hit the road . . . travel, travel, travel. How much easier it is to hitch the horses today than it was fifty years ago. How much life has changed. Our methods today are different and so much more costly. Are we living beyond our incomes . . . shouldn't we be saving more than we all do?

It wasn't expensive to build a bathroom fifty years ago . . . a small wooden building with a decorated door . . . located on the back of the lot. And in the house the stove did more than warm up a can of beans . . . It heated the water for the bath, the dishes and for the weekly washing . . . and in winter kept the kitchen, dining room and bedroom directly above warm . . . The parlor lasted longer in those days because the room was sealed-off for many months each year. Lighting was simple and not so easily cleaned . . . so early retirement each night kept the cost down.

Today it costs money to live . . . the bathroom is no longer a simple affair . . . the fancy tubs . . . and wash basins and johnies appear in all colors of the rainbow. And the walls that hold these items are covered not with pine boards but glittering glass or plastic. The kitchen stove does nothing but cook and a heater for water must be provided and a heater for warming the house is additional. The parlor wears out quicker because it is used all of the time. Lights are electric fed and easily cleaned so the retiring time is anytime.

We have attempted to plant in your mind a thought . . . for you to develop in your own way. How much we have improved conditions in the wee fifty immediate past years . . . and you can't find another nation with such history. For all this better living you can't afford to miss voting on July 24th . . . if you are registered and fail to vote July 24th . . . then you deserve to have the out-house back. NOT VERY INVITING

Seeks Some Answers

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

Questions I'd Like Answered: If the Reds had driven our troops into the sea a year ago, as it seemed they would, would they have asked for a peace parley or agreed to a cease-fire order?

Would Generals Whan Poo Lulu, Sing Lee Mortar, and Jung Ho Joe have said, "This Korean war is a waste of men and time, so will Americans velly well meet us and arrange honorable peace?"

My answer to my own question is "No," spelled with a million "N's" and a million "O's." The Reds would have piled it on, making enough face, as they call it, to launch a thousand ships, all of heavy tonnage. If the U. N., meaning the U. S., signs with the Red bandits, it will have lost enough face to cover the blushes of all free, tough and independent men.

What happens to an automobile in a year? They are advertised as being the last word in the engineering field, built to standards higher than a box kite in a high wind—precision, tested, hand-rolled, painted by men whose fathers painted cars, and turned out as gems which, if given ordinary care, will give a lifetime of satisfactory performance.

That's the kind of cars we buy. We believe every word. Then comes the time to turn them in on a newer model. What do we find? We find that the "gem" is a tired, worn-out, exhausted, no-good bun. Only the other day I tried to sell my 1949 L—n—n, with only 13,000 miles on it. Owner-driven. Heater—cooking perfectly. Radio—without a fault. White wall tires—pure as snow. Upholstery—spotless and not worn a whit. Motor—ticking like a mile runner's heart. Carburetor—head of his class.

Fan belt, a member of the automobile club. Springs—asked to the best automobile springs parties. Bumpers—president of the automobile springs Rotary club. Tail light—as bright as a coon hunter's lantern. In short, everything perfect.

The used car dealer wouldn't even get out of his office to look at it. Wasn't interested. The dealer was a bit nicker. He agreed to give me $1500 for the car if I gave him $1200 for a smaller and much cheaper car. Depreciation, he explained. Depreciation of what. I wanted to know. The motor is just broken in, the whole car is just as good as when I bought it for close to $4000.

My answer to my own question: a high class, high octane racket. An advertising racket.

Is it necessary or advisable for newspapers to run the picture of a Mayor doing everything he does? Here in New York the papers consider it a civic duty to publish pictures of civility meeting Boy Scouts on the City Hall steps, turning the first spadeful of dirt at the new home for homeless milk drivers, greeting the charter member of the Organization for the National Preservation of Three-legged Chimpunks, getting off a plane after a trip to Bermuda, giving a medal to the spelling bee contest winners, etc., etc.

Answer to my own question: No.

People get tired of such junk. The pictures take up space that could well be devoted to more important things. After all, mayors aren't the prettiest things in the world. And their pictures get tiresome.

That's all.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Japan has been invited to join the United Nations, but they've had peace for six years and may not want to risk it.

The invitation is conditioned of course . . . They must first accept the peace treaty which restores them as a first class nation with an invitation to rearm and join the next fight.

We also are working up a peace treaty for our corner of Germany . . . It will carry the usual provision for rearming.

The thought is that if we can get enough former enemies rearmed quickly we will be in a better position to take on former allies.

Then after that one, we reverse the picture, run it backwards and change the enemy-all title cards again.

This is quite an expensive process, but fortunately we have the printing presses for it and that new ink that permits quicker distribution of our currency.

You can't beat a combination of fast-currency and jet planes to get it out of the country.

TALK TO YOUTH

Some deal in doubts and fears
Young people to affright.
As if throughout the years
The wrong will master right.
They cry: "Our age has made
The world a sorry place.
Odds of which we're afraid,
We leave to you to face."

Fear of the future? Why?
And of our youth such doubt.
Trustful of them am I
To work their problems out.
They'll blunder as we've,
But also they'll succeed.
When courage has to be,
They will supply the need.

What if we said in truth,
The world is now complete.
Never again will youth
Know victory or defeat.
We've solved the problems all.
Nothing is left to do.
Henceforth till death shall call
Life holds no dreams for you?

'Tis true that we have gone
Blundering our way along.
But, you who follow on
Can right what now is wrong.
Can struggle to achieve;
Do what we've failed to do.
Bright youth, the world we leave
Needs every one of you.

SCHOLARS AND STUDENTS
Some people say that a scholar is someone who goes to school. Others say that a scholar is an educated person. Both sides say that a student is someone who studies.

It seems to be a good idea for a young person to go to school. An education may be acquired outside of school but it is a very hard job and it is a very exceptional student who can do it.

Many a man has made a success in this good land without even the three Rs but he was handicapped. He knew it better than anyone else too.

Every boy and girl should try to get all of the schooling possible. He will be better in both body and mind.

Chin Up; Let's Face It

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—"Chin up" is about the attitude which ECA officials have privately assumed concerning the disappointing elections several weeks ago in France and Italy.

I say "privately" because in public, the same officials conceive it a duty to act more cheerfully than they sometimes feel. This is not hypocrisy on their part. It is the sense of duty which causes a ship's captain to wear a confident smile when his vessel is being lashed by a violent storm. A dour visage would dishearten the crew and panic the passengers. But for readers who are not frightened by truth—and who don't need their hands patted with reassuring platitudes—here is the situation as it appears to ECA officials with access to confidential and debunked information.

Reverse Old Adage

The Communists have succeeded—so far, at least—in reversing the old adage which says that "deeds speak louder than words." Their words—their propaganda—have been almost an even match for our deeds of house-building, factory-building, land-improvement and general good will. In France today, the Reds are spending the equivalent of $30 million a year for posters, publications, speech-makers and strike support. In Italy, the equivalent figure is $40 million, and the Reds control 14 daily newspapers with a total circulation of 800,000. These are not big sums when compared with our multi-million dollar investments. Yet, between 1946-51 we have reduced the French Communist party registration by only 250,000. In Italy, the Communist membership has actually risen by 100,000.

Neither the paper gain for our side in France, nor the paper loss in Italy is enough to matter much. The salient facts are that French Communists today number 600,000 and Italian Communists number 1,600,000. There are more than enough Reds in each country to sabotage a fighting war.

Not At All Discouraged

But it is wrong to assume that ECA officials are at all discouraged, as they privately admit these hard facts. It is one thing to be frank about the difficulties—something else to become a defeatist at the sight of them. As one who is more than skeptical about the wisdom of giveaway policies, I never leave ECA headquarters without respect—yes, and hope—for the never-say-die spirit that seems to prevail. Although the record is not good, there are at least these factors which may brighten the future.

1. Productivity. Marshall planners claim that the benefits of European reconstruction will soon be reaching down to the common man. It has taken three years to get the wheels of industry to the rolling point and to train foreign workers to use modern equipment. Much remains to be done, but from now on we may expect that the man-hour output will increase, thus bringing more food, clothing and labor-saving gadgets into the homes of France and Italy. When people find that they can have the good things of life without trading away their liberties, Red propaganda will soon reach a point of diminishing returns.

Babes-In-The-Woods

2. Intelligence. Marshall planners were babes-in-the-woods when they first encountered Communist tactics. Not any more. From sources not proper to name here, ECA officials are kept fully aware of Red propaganda plans. By way of example, I have before me an 11-page schedule of Communist-sponsored activities for the summer and fall of 1951. Compiled by ECA agents, the schedule lists "peace" rallies, investigations of American "traitors" in Korea, as well as innocent-looking conventions of Red artists, scientists and even sportsmen. Usually there is no way to prevent these meetings in Marshall plan countries, but it helps to be forewarned.

3. Practical Politics. Marshall planners aren't supposed to interfere with local affairs in foreign lands, but it's no coincidence that an American-style patronage system is appearing in seven large Italian cities which lately overthrew their Communist mayors. When all the deserving non-Communists get on the payroll, they'll be hard to remove in future elections. It is possible to be dubious about these future benefits, but it is well to consider their possibility. It never hurts to hope that an old investment will bring an unexpected profit.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A peculiar piece of mail came to me the day before Independence Day.

It was a note with a page from an almanac clipped to it.

The note read: "A few thoughts for the Fourth of July—and for 1952 election time. Are we back where we started?"

The page from the almanac was a reprint of the Declaration of Independence.

The following passages were underlined with pencil:

"Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations . . . the writer crossed out 'present King of Great Britain,' and substituted three well-known initials."

"He has refused his Assent to Laws, the wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance—till his Assent should be obtained." (The writer crossed out 'Governors' and substituted 'Congress'.)

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the Administration of Justice."

"He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

The next passage is underlined three times:

"He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance."

"He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies, without the consent of our legislatures."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his assent to their Acts of pretended legislation: For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world—the next eight words underlined three times: For Imposition of Taxes on us without our Consent."

I had not intended to use this anonymous communication.

However, something kept me from throwing it into the waste basket. The sender's suggestion "a few thoughts for the Fourth of July" stuck in my mind.

And then, on Independence Day, I listened to some of the usual flowery orations appropriate to the occasion.

In those orations there were many eulogies of the brave men who had the courage to throw out the obnoxious King of Great Britain and to substitute a government and a constitution of their own.

But those same orators also hurled the same accusations, first made in 1776, against the present government and the present administration.

Since then millions of men have died in the cause of Liberty. There have been wars and there is a war now.

I wonder whether all the glorious words of that immortal Declaration of Independence have become nothing but words.

And I wondered how many people ask themselves today—just like the sender of that anonymous note: "Are we back where we started?"

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

If you read Jack London, Robert Service, and Stewart Edward White in your youth, you may remember the Klondike gold rush as a romantic episode in which countless adventurers found millions in gold. Kathryn Winslow, in her new book, "Big Pan-Out," says that wasn't the case at all. At the peak of the Klondike boom, in 1899, California was still producing twice as much gold, and later strikes in Alaska and South Africa dwarfed its output immeasurably. During the height of the rush, however, steamboat passages from Seattle to the nearest ports soared from $200 to $1000, eggs sold in Dawson at three dollars apiece, and only one adventurer in every ten thousand really struck it rich! One man who had had the foresight to carry a half a dollar's worth of vegetable seeds with him made $1000 from his crop the next summer.

Tex Rickard made HIS Klondike money on a saloon, and Alexander Pantages, who never dug an ounce of Klondike gold, reaped his first fortune with a rickety theatre in Dawson. And there goes another illusion!

Fire Damages Vacant House

North Mercer Street Home Found Ablaze

Fire, of undetermined origin, caused damage of about $1,000 to a vacant home between North Jefferson and North Mercer streets at the west end of Park avenue at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Firemen were summoned to the scene by an alarm from Box 212, and on arrival found a lean-to kitchen at the side of the house a mass of flames. A second alarm was turned in from the box at 3:10 o'clock, summoning two additional trucks to the fire, three responding on the first alarm. The fire was quickly brought under control and was prevented from spreading to the main portion of the house, a five-room frame structure.

The blaze was hastened by the explosion of a five-gallon container of kerosene oil which had been stored in the kitchen. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink stated. The house was owned by Harry Fisher, of Pearson street, who had intended to remodel the structure, and it contained furniture and materials which were in storage in the house. There was a considerable quantity of lumber stored outside the house, but this did not catch fire.

RUGGED OLDSTER

REDS BRING UP 'NEW POINT' AT SESSION

was taken up "in discussion of the items of the agenda proposed by the UN command."

It added that both senior delegates—Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy and North Korean Gen. Nam Il—participated in the bargaining and continued. "In addition, clarification of definitions and translations took considerable time."

More Formal Session!

The afternoon meeting was described in the communiqué as "more formal, with the North Koreans' senior delegates elucidating and explaining details of their first proposed agenda."

Both the English and the Chinese translations of Nam Il's statement appear to have been prepared in advance, the announcement stated.

It said the sixth full-dress negotiating session will begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning (8 p.m. Tuesday EDT).

The fifth session spanned a period of three hours and 35 minutes, starting at 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p.m. Monday EDT) and adjourning at 2:35 p.m. (12:35 a.m. EDT). It was divided into a 55-minute meeting in the morning and a 35-minute afternoon session. Thus the day's actual talks covered one hour and a half. During a luncheon recess that lasted two hours and five minutes, each delegation held a caucus to discuss the morning's work.

Met By General Ridgway

Amid reports that an agenda may be completed in a few days, the five allied delegates were met by the UN military chief, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, when they returned by helicopter Tuesday afternoon to their truce camp near Kaesong.

International News Service Correspondent Don Dixon, who jeered to Kaesong from the truce camp Tuesday, said the day's talks were conducted with "reserved cordiality."

His dispatch from the "armistice city" reported that both the UN and Red delegations "appeared to be in good spirits."

The correspondent said the two Chinese generals looked "more reserved" than the three North Korean delegates who wore "mild smiles" as they walked in and out of the conference building. Both the Red and the UN delegates posed for news photographers for the second consecutive day but did not talk to reporters.

A high-level UN official disclosed meanwhile that the present Kaesong negotiations "are not actual cease-fire talks."

He said they are designed solely to draw up the list of discussion topics for an armistice meeting at which Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army's international ground forces, may head a new UN delegation.

MANY TOWNS IN MISSOURI NOW IN FLOOD'S PATH

scorched, flood-ravaged industrial sections and the pumping stations hope to have the water supply near normal within four days.

While Kansas began struggling out of its watery desolation neighboring Missouri prepared for the worst.

The Missouri river—which cuts a wide swath through the heart of the state—is rushing to feed a predicted near-record flood on the swollen Mississippi.

St. Louis in Path

River front industrial districts in St. Louis already are under water and weather bureau officials say muddy flood waters will run 40 feet deep in some sections of the city "in the next few days." That is only three tenths of a foot short of the 1947 record.

Record crests are predicted all along the twisting Missouri river path to St. Louis.

At Waverly, where the channel normally is a quarter-mile wide, the river dug a swath eight and one-half miles wide. At Boonville, the crest is expected to reach 32 and one-half feet tonight, six inches higher than the 1947 mark.

A 33.7 crest is slated for Jefferson City—two-tenths of a foot higher than the 1903 record.

St. Charles, which overlooks the giant Mississippi river city of St. Louis, expects a peak crest by Friday.

In Kansas, rivers are subsiding after a week of watery terror which left at least 23 persons dead.

New Cabinet Post Is Urged

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(INS)—Former Marshall plan administrator Paul Hoffman today urged creation of a new cabinet post, independent of the State and Defense departments, to handle foreign economic aid.

Hoffman also told the House foreign affairs committee at a hearing on the 8.5 billion dollar foreign aid bill that no nation can win a meaningful victory in an all-out war.

He said such a war would cost the U. S. one billion dollars a day. But, he was optimistic about winning the cold war, noting that western nations have all the material and spiritual advantages "if they are willing to take advantage of them."

Hoffman said a new cabinet official handling foreign economic aid should be chosen strictly along "unpartisan lines" if he is to be effective in representing the views of the nation and not the view of just one party.

Declaring that "guided dollars will buy more than unguided dollars," he said a single agency to handle foreign aid is necessary to get maximum efficiency as demanded by American taxpayers.

Film Depicts Burial Rites

Rotarians See Picture Monday

New Castle Rotarians saw an interesting picture at their noon luncheon meeting Monday, entitled, "A part of the American Way," which showed burial customs of different nationalities, down through the ages.

In conclusion, it showed the American Way of providing a dignified Christian ceremony.

In reply to questions of his audience, Rotarian Howard L. Reynolds, who was instrumental in securing the picture for showing to the club, stated that the average cost of funerals in New Castle is around $560.

Says Germany Still Main Target Of Soviet Aggression

FRANKFURT, July 17.—(INS)—U. S. high commissioner John J. McCloy declared Monday that Germany remains the "main or intermediate target" of Soviet aggression.

McCloy addressed the annual conference of state department resident officials in the United States zone. He pointed to the present Korean peace talks as indicative of Soviet tactics and said:

"There is no evidence that Communist tactics vary or that there has been any abandonment of the Soviet policy of seeking to find soft spots for application of new pressures.

"There is an aroma of distrust about the talks, which together with a reported build-up of troops in North Korea carries an ominous note."

McCloy said that America's eyes and ears are on Germany and added:

"There can be no defense of Europe without Germany. This is not only a question of power but of propriety."

Melodrama Starts At Summer Theatre For Current Week

Westminster college Little Theater players continue their summer theater program this week with "Only An Orphan Girl", an old-fashioned melodrama, which opens tonight for a five-day run.

The production will be performed in the style of the old melodramas with exaggerated acting and with a vaudeville show of song and dance routines presented between acts.

The production is under the direction of David MacArthur of the college speech department. It will carry a cast of nine persons, with lead roles being handled by Bill Barbe, New Wilmington; Ruth Vogan, Mercer; and Bill Stedman, Ellwood City.

Others taking part in the production are Paul Talley, Oil City; Ruth Devlin, Pittsburgh; Mary Rauscher, New Wilmington; Marian Brodbeck, Ellwood City; Phyllis Hartman, Westview; and John Nelson, Sharpsville.

The vaudeville acts will include such old favorites as "She's More To Be Pitied Than Censored", "Strolling Through the Park", "Bicycle Built for Two", "In the Good Old Summertime", and others. For the grand finale the entire company will perform a square dance.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Taking Accidents Calmly

Though it was a good many years ago, I still remember very clearly when the principal of the elementary school in which I was teaching said to parents of children in the after-school recreation clubs:

"This year we are going to have a broken arm or two, several black eyes, cuts and bruises and an assortment of other minor injuries," he would say. "Unless we wrap your children in cotton batting, these things will occur. Running, jumping, climbing trees and doing the other things that are good for children involve some risk. We believe you want your children to have the freedom of such play. We'll do our part to keep them from injuries, but some are bound to happen."

Yes, we love our children. And we hate to see them hurt. Often, we make a great deal of fuss about relatively minor injuries. So much so, indeed, that one group of teachers, listing what they liked in parents, wrote, "...taking accidents calmly and not blaming the school or the teacher."

Children, too, like it better if we are not too concerned about their cuts and bruises. Of course, they want to feel that we are interested but they don't want to be brooded over.

Rhonda Fleming To Marry Again

HOLLYWOOD, July 17.—(INS)—Red-haired screen actress Rhonda Fleming and Dr. Lew Morrill reportedly are planning a trip to the altar in October.

Miss Fleming, who soon will go with the doctor to Nevada, said she is not planning to marry immediately. She added:

"It is very likely we will marry in October when his divorce becomes final. I know that I am in love with Lew and that I care for him more than any man. I think we will be happy."

The actress formerly was wed to Tom Lane, interior decorator. They have a small son.

SCHARY IS NAMED

HOLLYWOOD, July 17.—(INS)—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios has appointed Dore Schary as production head to replace Louis B. Mayer who recently resigned from the company he helped found.

The appointment was made by Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loews, Inc., and M-G-M, following a week-end conference in Chicago.

Tolstoi, Shakespeare, Socrates and Aristotle were agnostics.

Flying Saucers Appear Again

Thousands of flying saucers soon will be seen over New Castle and vicinity.

The saucers, amazing little helicopter type toys that soar as high as a 12-story building and perform stunts, will be on sale this week in local stores.

The man who invented the Flying Saucers, F. K. Formis of Chattanooga, demonstrated their use and had people goggle-eyed.

The device consists of a six-inch propeller enclosed within a copper ring. It is launched by pulling a string and spinning a spool, to which the propeller is attached.

By adjusting the propeller the saucer can be made to do the following stunts: Altitude flight, spot landing, cross country flight, chandelle—modified wing over, and endurance or floating flight.

Formis calls the toy an "atomic jet flying saucer." It is one of numerous inventions he has patented or perfected. He got his idea for the saucer while a helicopter factory superintendent for the Bendix Corp. in World War II. He made several models by hand in his basement, and now has two factories producing flying saucers for kids all over the country.

Grocery, Drug, Confectionery and Neighborhood Stores will feature the Toys.

Will Seek To Aid Farmers

Defense Mobilizer Says Nation Aims To Supply Needs

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(INS)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has promised strong efforts to provide farmers with vitally needed supplies of machinery, fertilizer, equipment and other materials.

In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Brannan, Wilson stressed the importance of farm production in the nation's mobilization program. He said an agricultural program geared to increasing commodities for defense, and providing an adequate diet for civilian and military use is a basic element in the nation's strength.

The defense mobilizer pointed out, however, that requirements for production, processing and distribution of food, must be balanced with other demands upon scarce materials so that the maximum use can be made when materials are allocated.

He said that policy has already given farm machinery manufacturers priority assistance in securing their third-quarter requirements of scarce materials.

Wilson also said he was aware of the critical need for expansion of fertilizer production facilities. He told Brannan he is trying to help put the controversial Morgantown ordnance ammonia plant into operation.

Finally, the nation's farmers were promised that every consideration will be given to their needs in order that agricultural production may be increased.

Canadian farmers are sharing in the bountiful wheat harvests which are expected to give this nation a crop exceeding one billion bushels for the eighth successive year.

The neighbors to the north report that their prospects for 1951 grain crops remain generally good to excellent. The outlook is favorable, despite a late season, and the need for warmer weather.

Corn crops aren't doing as well, however, and frequent rains have held up harvesting of the exceptionally large hay crop.

Speculation On Special Session

Several Lawmakers Anticipate Session

HARRISBURG, July 17.—(INS)—The speculation over a special session of the General Assembly in 1952 shows there is as much uncertainty about that as over settling matters holding up sine die adjournment of the current meeting of the legislature. Several lawmakers anticipate a special session call early in 1952 if not sooner.

They believe the current session may adjourn finally leaving many loose ends to be put together.

They have concluded that Governor Fine's threat to move "boldly" should no new tax money be voted means that he'll convene an extraordinary meeting and, in keeping with the constitution, specifically charge legislators with settling the tax troubles and other controversial affairs that have plagued the assembly for more than three months. The last special session of the legislature was convened for five days in 1944 to enact a soldier ballot law which became a model for legislators in other states. The past seven-year span free of special sessions is the longest since the 1906-26 period. Beginning with the extraordinary session of 1931 and ending with the 1944 special meeting there were 11 special sessions in addition to the regular biennial meetings.

The State Highways Department reports that 42 per cent of Pennsylvania's primary highway system is 20 years old while 41 per cent is between 10 and 20 years old. Approximately 17 per cent of the primary system is less than 10 years old. Replacement to meet modern traffic needs becomes a more acute problem each year, according to the department. Much damage done by heavy traffic during World War II has yet to be repaired even though the overburdened department is now faced with a new boom in transportation as a result of the national emergency.

Governor Fine holds the moral view that legislators should not vote on any legislation which in any way affects any of their private lines of work. Actually, a strict interpretation of the constitution would prohibit—especially if enforced by a test court case—any legislator from voting on any measures remotely connected with his private source of income. Thus attorneys in the House and Senate would not be allowed to vote on measures concerned with legal matters. Likewise, farmers would be prohibited from casting ballots on bills affecting agriculture or making appropriations for farm functions. Attorney General R. E. Woodside has decided informally that as long as individuals vote for legislation affecting them as a class, and not singly, it is not a violation of the constitution. In line with Woodside's informal opinion is a bill moving through the House to make the office of county commissioner incompatible with that of a legislator.

The Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, peacetime home of Pennsylvania's National Guard, now displays the trophies of the Fifth (Red Diamond) division training on the huge site east of Harrisburg. The Fifth, settling into a steady routine, recently brought its trophies from Fort Jackson, S.C. They include the baton of the second Regiment which is made from wood of the flagstaff of Mexican forces defeated at Chapultepec in 1834. Altogether, there are 1901 trophies weight more than 3400 pounds.

Pvt. Blau Assigned To Third Division

FT. MEADE, Md.—Pvt. Simon Blau, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blau, 237 Fairmont avenue, has been assigned to the 3rd Armored Division, Fort Knox, Ky., for army basic training after completing processing at the 2053rd Reception here.

He attended the University of Pittsburgh. He will receive eight weeks training in basic military subjects necessary for all soldiers. This will include qualification firing with the carbine or M-1 rifle. The remainder of his basic training will be in advanced individual subjects and the basic fundamentals of his army or service.

More than a dozen different types of continuous mining machines have been developed and are in commercial or test use.

How you May Gain New Strength -- Feel Younger

When you are run-down—low-spirited—have sleepless nights—no energy—"nerves"—poor appetite, don't be discouraged! Chances are you are just not getting your full daily requirements of the necessary vitamins and minerals from the food you eat.

What you should do is try FERRIZAN—the new dietary supplement and reconstructive tonic. FERRIZAN not only gives you your full quota of many of the essential vitamins but also supplies the equally important iron for the blood and iodine for the ductless glands plus needed Calcium and Phosphorus.

Often in ten days you may feel the difference; your friends notice it. Back comes your appetite—you should actually feel the urge to eat. Nerves can grow steadier; work easier; you may sleep more soundly.

So why delay? Why not decide now to take FERRIZAN for 30 days and see for yourself just how wonderful FERRIZAN can make you feel. Costs you only a few cents a day. Money refunded if not completely satisfied, says Love & McGown.

REBEL BASE

ATLANTA.—(INS)—There will be a large Confederate flag waving in the breeze at Denver's Lowry Field. It seems the "Rebs" have taken over—numerically, at least. Staff Sergeant Harry Sappington requested his father, in Atlanta, to send him a flag. The young veteran of 60 World War II combat missions wrote home that 70 percent of the Lowry Field personnel are Southerners, "and we really want everybody to know it."

Large Cities Larger Heads

NEW YORK.—(INS)—One of the nation's foremost authorities on women's hats reports that girls heads are bigger in large cities than they are in rural areas. Richard Englander, a New York hat designer, says that a nationwide survey shows that the biggest feminine heads are in San Francisco, New York and Chicago. In these cities, Englander says, teen-agers averaged from one to two sizes larger than girls in rural areas all over the country. But while head sizes of modern girls vary in localities, Englander says their tastes are basically the same. He explains: "Teen-agers today are more serious and down to earth, they have a keen grasp of world affairs." He says that a bigger head doesn't mean bigger ideas—just bigger hats.

BAIL-OUT RECORD
NEW YORK.—(INS)—A new high-altitude bail-out record was established in 1950 (September 29), when an Air Force officer using an automatic-opening parachute jumped from an altitude of more than eight miles, states the 1951 Encyclopedia Americana Annual.

Support Orders Now Reciprocal

Pennsylvania Passes New Act

This is going to be unpleasant news for those who have had support orders issued against them and then left for other states. The Pennsylvania General Assembly has passed and Governor John S. Fine has signed Act 50 known as the Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act, putting this state in line with 36 other states which have passed similar legislation.

What it means is this: A man is brought into court for failure to support his wife and family. The court orders him to pay a specified amount per week or month towards their support.

After paying the order a short time the man decides to locate in another state and up to now he could get away with it. From here on in he will not be safe in any of the 36 states for Pennsylvania can certify the case to the other state and it will proceed as though he were a violator of that state.

Nearly states which have the same legislation are Ohio, New York, Delaware, Indiana and Illinois. Florida and California, two of the favorite hideout spots for deserters, also have the legislation.

House Expected To Vote Today On Ban On Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(INS)—The House is expected to vote today on proposals to ban all price rollbacks.

Three important amendments affecting price controls are pending as the House begins its seventh day of voting on revision of the defense production law.

The amendments and the order in which they will be voted upon follows:

1. By Rep. Cox (D) Ga.—To invalidate existing and future rollbacks on all materials and services.
2. By Rep. Cooley (D) N. C.—To bar future rollbacks in food prices and eliminate the existing 10 per cent rollback in the price of livestock.
3. By Rep. Fugate (D) Va.—To prevent administrator DiSalle from putting into effect in August and October two 4.5 per cent rollbacks in the price of beef.

DiSalle estimates the three rollbacks would save consumers 700 million dollars a year on beef.

A rift in the hitherto solid farm bloc encouraged administration leaders to hope that both the Cooley and Cox amendments could be defeated.

For A New Swimming Pool In 1952

Will you help me save you $60,000 in the next four years. It cost over $20,000 last year to collect the wage tax. As City Treasurer I will be able and willing to collect this tax at a savings of $13,000 a year. $15,000 X 4 is $60,000. I'm sure none of us are confused by the above simple arithmetic. All men are considered honest, but all public officials who handle public funds are bonded. As stated in the July 14th issue of this paper in the editorial section, page four. Quote —"Plans for a Swimming Pool for the season of 1952 should be made right now."

Make your plans right now to vote for Gomer W. Emery for City Treasurer on July 24th and have your Swimming Pool in 1952. This is not a political promise this is a sincere pledge and can be worked out. I have the pledge of every uncontrolled candidate for the offices of Mayor and City Council that they will insist that the City Treasurer collect all the taxes for the City of New Castle.

Mississippi River Towns Facing Flood

By JACK ESTELL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ST. LOUIS, July 17.—(INS)—Mississippi River towns braced for emergency duty as rampaging waters poured from the Missouri River after wreaking havoc at the twin Kansas cities.

The Missouri River snakes its way across the State of Missouri to the Mississippi just north of St. Louis.

At the confluence of the two large rivers, the area has already suffered nearly three million dollars damage as result of flooded rich farmlands. At St. Charles, the Missouri dropped slightly over night but is expected to rise again. The weather bureau forecast a crest of 38 feet on Friday. That is half a foot higher than the original prediction and would be the highest level in 107 years. This morning the stage at St. Charles was 35.8.

Two Major levees protecting the West Alton area in St. Charles county were abandoned last night after a three-week battle to save them. Coast guardsmen stood by to evacuate some 400 residents of the community as the flood waters of the Missouri pushed closer. Most West Alton residents have refused to leave their homes although they have been repeatedly warned to move to safety.

The only barrier now between the swirling Missouri waters and West Alton is an old abandoned railroad embankment. It is doubtful that this will hold when the river reaches its crest.

Gardeners Look For Needed Rain

Hope That Dry Spell Will Soon Be Broken

Seventh ward gardens, along with gardens in other sections of the city are quite parched at the present time and gardeners are patiently awaiting the arrival of a gentle rain, which should bring on the tomatoes, beans and corn.

A few residents with garden spots close enough to their homes have been periodically watering their garden plots in order to provide the needed moisture for the various plants. Others have been carrying water but have found that the task is too great.

Some really fine gardens are noted in the Seventh Ward district and with a little rain, some exceptionally good harvests of vegetables should result. Many ward housewives are planning to can as much of their garden produce as possible in order to have a good supply available for next winter's table use.

Owners of large expanses of lawn have also found that the dryness is affecting the grass as many brown spots are appearing on the lawns. Sprinkling of the lawns is being done by many residents in order that they might not be burned out before the rain falls.

Profiting most from the arid spell are carpenters, brick layers and other outdoors tradesmen who are engaged in various remodeling and building projects about the ward. The weatherman has been good to this group in enabling them to make good progress on their work.

Little Leaguers Down Eighth Ward

Seventh Ward's Little League ball team put on an excellent demonstration of power Monday evening at Flaherty field when it downed the eighth ward team 14 to 2 in a regulation game. Mangano pitched and Cummings caught.

A large group was present to see the young fellows play. The game was one of several played during the evening. Young Louis Quahiero of Wayne street, was the hero of the evening, when he swatted a homer for the seventh ward team.

According to reports, the lads from the seventh ward are going places in the Little League and are outstanding contenders for the league championship.

Ward Residents Watch Road Work

Citizens of the Seventh Ward are watching with interest, the rebuilding of the highway of Route 18, a short distance south of Mahoningtown. Since the closing of Route 18, much through traffic has been taken off of Seventh Ward streets and routed over other city thoroughfares.

The closing of the highway cuts off a direct route to Wampum and to other valley towns. Many vehicles made use of the road before the detour was placed in effect both local and district travelers.

Through Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent, it is learned that base stone will be put in position Thursday, preparatory to putting a hard surface on the new section of road, which by-passes the sunken hole section. The new road is approximately 1,000 feet in length and makes use of the Piedmont farm.

Hundreds of seventh warders made the trip out to the site of the sunken road last spring as it began its disappearing act. The section where the road fell away has been abandoned entirely as unfit for road use. It is hoped to have the new road in use before the first of August.

Grant Permits For Several Dwellings

Offutt, 416 East Winter avenue, outside stairway, $250; Harold Brown, 1413 Neshannock boulevard, porch, $500; Oliver Hoch, 104 West Winter avenue, one story frame house, $6,000 and Francesco DeVitto, 946 Hazel street, concrete block dwelling, $4,000.

Advocate Turnpike Interchange Near Ohio State Line

Mahoning Valley Turnpike committee has made a recommendation favoring a turnpike interchange at the Ohio state line and an access highway north to link Pennsylvania's super road with U. S. Road 224.

The group which met over the weekend to discuss the turnpike problem and its relation to Youngstown, studied a large mosaic map outlining the coming traffic problem. Youngstown's city engineer, J. C. Ryan hopes that state routes can be swung to the outskirts rather than through the city to aid in the traffic movement through the district.

As at least two years are expected to elapse before the construction of the first Ohio link to the turnpike, officials are anxious to provide means for traffic to conveniently reach the Gateway to the Turnpike. The interchange is expected to be a half mile east of the Ohio border.

A recommendation for an interchange at Petersburg, had been made, but due to the fact that permanent plans for the joining of the Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes are not complete, the location is not yet known.

Before you pay $2400 or more for a new car — remember :

You're paying for a Packard....why not own one?

The more you shop around, these days, the more you realize that even the mass-produced, lightly-built cars are edging up into the "Packard price class."

All of which adds up to a hearty invitation to you to step into your first Packard. Just check the plus-values you'll get:

Functional design: The famed Society of Motion Picture Art Directors names the new 1951 Packard as the "car that embodies the most advanced concept of automotive styling."

Performance: New Packard Thunderbolt engines give you the peak efficiency of America's highest-compression eight. Plus: the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power.

Roadworthy riding comfort: The silent Packard "Limousine Ride," with all its new advancements, is America's smoothest, most roadworthy ride.

Handling ease: You can actually steer a

Packard, in traffic, with as little effort as it takes to turn a door knob. And visibility? Packard's new kind of driving vision puts an end to "bonnet blindness"—lets you see both front fenders from behind the wheel.

Durability: Packard holds motordom's greatest durability record. Fact: Of all the Packards built, in the last 52 years, over 50% are still in service.

Top Teams Of American League Begin Important Series Tonight

Browns Top Red Sox; Yanks White Sox And Indians Win

By JOHN BARRINGTON

NEW YORK, July 17.—The Boston Red Sox felt just a touch of their old traveling blues today, and it couldn't have come at a more opportune time.

The road trip that began so bravely with three victories in four games at Chicago, went sour in St. Louis yesterday when the jowly Browns walloped the Red Sox 9 to 5, for their second win in the three-game series.

That rolled the Sox' lead back to a single game, just when they were heading into Cleveland stadium to confront the ambitious fourth-place Indians.

Cleveland holds a 7-5 season's edge on the Red Sox, and manager Al Lopez has his big three—Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn—ready to whittle down the 2½-game margin separating the top and bottom of the first division.

The thing that really hurt most about the Browns' rousing send-off was the way they did it. The last-placers jumped on previously unbeaten Ellis Kinder and Bill Wright for seven runs in the fifth inning.

Williams Homers
Of slight consolation was Ted Williams' 18th homer of the year off winning pitcher Al Widmar.

Cleveland warmed up for the Boston series by slugging Washington, 8 to 2, as Steve Gromek went the route for the first time all season. Two homers by Luke Easter—his 13th and 14th—and Al Rosen's 14th accounted for seven runs.

The Yanks opened a three-day stand in Chicago tied in percentage with the White Sox although actually trailing them by half a game.

Both won yesterday. The White Sox salvaged their only win in a three-game series with Philadelphia by blasting the Athletics, 9 to 5, with a 15-hit attack that included homers by Orestes Minoza and Don Lenhardt.

The Yankees squeezed through to an 8 to 6 win over Detroit in the rubber game of their series. The world champions gave south-paw rookie Art Schallack a run lead in the first two innings, but he couldn't hold it in his first big league start. Frank Shea was the winner in relief.

Dodgers End Streak
The National league's pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers ended their four-game losing streak by trouncing Cincinnati, 11 to 2. Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider getting homers. Snider's was his 20th.

Carl Erskine retired the first 21 batters to face him, but his dreams of a perfect game were shattered in the eighth when Ted Kluszewski singled and Virgil Stallcup homered.

Wes Westrum's eighth-inning homer—his second of the game and 15th of the season—brought the New York Giants home a 7 to 6 winner over Pittsburgh and elevated them into second place by a full game.

Eddie Stanky and Al Dark of the Giants and the Pirates' Bill Howerton and Joe Garagiola also took advantage of the Polo grounds' ready homerun facilities.

The St. Louis Cardinals slipped to third when the Philadelphia Phillies broke Gerry Staley's spell to score five times in the eighth. They won, 5 to 2, for Russ Meyer.

Del Rice homered for the Cards in the third.

The Boston Braves saw Chicago score four in the first, but they came back to win, 9 to 4, on homers by Sam Jethroe, Earl Torgeson and Sid Gordon.

Klafter Cops Series Final

Play At Niagara Falls Tonight

(Special To The News)

ERIE, Pa., July 17.—New Castle exploded the Erie Sailors' jinx Monday night to salvage the final of its three game series at Ainsworth Field 9-5, before a crowd of 804.

Paul Klafter, although nipped for 12 hits, half of them during the first two innings, hurled New Castle to its third victory over the Tars in 17 starts.

Klafter, once in command, was mighty tough. Erie got to him for three runs in the second on four successive hits—good solid blows.

A four run rally in the sixth however put Klafter and his teammates out front, where they remained throughout. Klafter's personal record now reads 9-3.

Thomas, the first of three Erie pitchers, had a no-hitter going for four innings. Joe Frisina, a nemesis to Erie chucks, opened the fifth with a scorching triple to left-center. The next two batters were retired but Bernie Saknich finally plated Frisina with the second hit off Thomas.

Carnera And Henry Meet In Mat Bout At Flaherty Field Tonight

Two Girls In Match; Bobby Ford In Tag

Fans And Fanettes who have never had the privilege of seeing a heavyweight who ruled the world in boxing, will have that privilege at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Flaherty Field when Primo Carnera now a wrestler, opposes Jim Henry, alias the Goon, a TV performer in the feature match.

In addition to the Carnera vs. Henry match, there will be two others, a 30 minutes encounter between Lillie Bitter, a newcomer when, with Tony Scarpella, he steps out in a Tag match against Jack Vansky and Johnny Demchuck. Bobby isn't given to viciousness while Vansky is a rough boy from Texas but they expect Bobby to "turn on the heat" tonight if Vansky becomes too tough.

The first bout will start at 8:30 p.m.

The Jefferson A. C. is promoting the match.

Eden-Hillers defeated Volant 7-3 in nine innings Monday evening at Volant in a North County baseball league game.

Trailing 3-0 going into the seventh inning, the Hillers tied the score when E. Retort hit a home run with two men on base. The winners tallied four times in the ninth to ice the game.

Some fancy fielding by Tony Parley in centerfield helped the Hiller cause.

BROOKERS WIN 2-0
East Brook edged Pulaski 2-0 Monday evening at Pulaski in a battle between two of the North County League's top pitchers—Wilson and Yaretts.

Wilson, the winner, gave up five hits and fanned nine. Yaretts gave up only four hits and struck out six.

Don Smith drove in both East Brook runs in the sixth inning, when he tripled with Bob Smith and Mayberry on base. No batter for either team had more than one hit.

The scheduled game between East Brook and Volant Wednesday was played as a holiday attraction on the Fourth of July. East Brook will travel to Mercer for an exhibition game Wednesday night.

NEW WILMINGTON COPS
New Wilmington scored three runs in the top half of the sixth inning Monday evening at Hillsville to defeat St. Lucy 7-5.

The winners jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings only to have St. Lucy come back and tie it up in the second and third frames. No further scoring was done until the sixth when New Wilmington scored its three runs and St. Lucy added another.

Don Meyers paced the New Wilmington attack with three hits, including a home run and a double. Carried had three hits for St. Lucy.

Bob Eagleson was the winning hurler, Mooney Schaville the loser.

Girls In Match
His million or more dollars which he earned, went fast and he went back to his "first love," wrestling, to recuperate his fortune and also make an effort to win the world's heavyweight wrestling championship. Wherever he appears, he attracts large crowds and tonight is pitted against a seasoned wrestler, one who knows as many tricks as Carnera.

Feminines who like to see how their gender make out in a sport which until recently was apparently only man's, will witness Lillie Bitter make her debut against Mae Weston who appeared on the mat here recently. It ought to be exciting to the feminine gender, many of whom have seen wrestling on television, but never in person.

Gaston Post Wins County American Legion Crown

Perry S. Gaston post won the Lawrence County American Legion championship Monday evening when it defeated the Chewton-Wampum post team 7-2 at Flaherty Field.

The win was the second in a row for the Gaston post team in its best of three series with Chewton-Wampum for the county crown. The New Castle team defeated Ellwood City in two straight games in the first round of the county playoffs.

The win was also the 15th straight for the Legion team this season.

During the game it was learned that Ambridge won from Beaver Falls to capture the Beaver county championship. New Castle will now meet Ambridge in a three game series for the District 26 title.

First game of the series will be played Friday evening, July 20, at George Washington Field. In last year's playoff New Castle defeated Ambridge in two straight games.

In preliminary action last night the New Wilmington post edged the Ellwood City post 3-2, and the Seventh Ward overpowered the Eight Ward in a regulation Little League game.

Favor Charles To Beat Jersey

PITTSBURGH, July 17.—(INS)—Bored oddsmakers listed champion Ezzard Charles a 3-to-1 favorite today for tomorrow's heavy weight title at Pittsburgh with perpetual challenger Jersey Joe Walcott.

It will be Walcott's fifth crack at the championship and, to hear 37-year-old Jersey Joe tell it, he hasn't lost one yet. The closest he actually came "was a split decision defeat in the first of his two bouts with Joe Louis.

But a pro-Walcott crowd of about 20,000—possibly enticed by a stage show preceding the fight card—is expected at Forbes field to see Pittsburgh's first heavy-weight title bout.

Walcott insists he expects to knock Charles, with whom he has gone 30 rounds in Chicago and Detroit, losing each time. The odds against a knockout by Jersey Joe are about 15 to 1.

On the other hand, there is a good deal of theorizing that Charles may stop the old man from Camden, N. J., especially if Walcott persists in crowding the champion.

Previously, Joe's strategy has been to keep away from Ezzard's slashing hooks. Observers believe he'll be foolish to do anything else this time. As one former fighter puts it:

Must Not Be Lulled By Turn Of Affairs In Korea

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(INS)—Top Washington officials believe today that the U. S. must remain strong or face another Korean incident in six months to a year regardless of what happens at the Kaesong peace talks.

This attitude in high defense and diplomatic quarters was voiced officially by secretary of state Acheson, who bluntly warned that "we must understand that the Soviet Union is a much tougher adversary than the United States has yet realized."

The secretary's remarks were made in an off-the-record address to a group of publishers on June 29—the date Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway accepted the Russian proposal to initiate cease-fire talks.

The fact that they have just been released was interpreted to mean that it is still the official view in Washington.

Must Not Be Lulled

The cabinet member stated: "We must not for one second allow any development in Korea to lull us into a belief that now we have turned the corner, and now things are going to get better, and therefore we do not need to make the effort which we have been making."

"We have some time now which, if used wisely, will give us the power and give us the union with powerful allies which can deter World War III."

"If we do not do that, if we allow ourselves to be lulled by Korea, I can assure you that, just as surely as you are sitting here, we will be hit within the next six months to a year with a much tougher blow somewhere else."

Not Final Crusade

Acheson argued that the Korean campaign has not been a "final crusade" nor has it made valid the idea of collective security through the U. N. but it is important, he added. "For the inverse reason that in Korea we have prevented the invalidation of collective security."

Urging patience, the secretary praised the success of the Rio treaty and the progress made toward international understanding in the Americas, even though it took more than 50 years to do so. He challenged those who claim that the U. N. is ineffective.

The opposition's views were voiced by Sen. Knowland (R) Calif. and Dirksen (R) in a "Meet the Press" radio program, prepared before the announced decision to continue the talks at Kaesong.

Dirksen declared that the U. S. had "permitted itself to go into a hole" by letting the Communists set the time and place of the meeting. Knowland, again expressing dissatisfaction with the contributions of other U. N. members in Korea, questioned whether the Communists were being given a respite there.

He added: "If Gen. Eisenhower

Collazo is scheduled to be executed October 26 for trying to assassinate President Truman.

Weakley, 50-year-old ex-salesman, is scheduled to die at the end of this month for murdering his boss, who fired him.
